

Figure 4.2: Roller Development

For the two front idler rollers, the uPVC pipe and end-caps rotate freely on a fixed shaft, and are coupled together with a rubber elastic band that is used on existing roller models. The rear roller is attached to the shaft with a key at both end-caps in order to allow for force to be transferred from the braking unit to the rear wheel of the cyclist.